

Steinmann Promoted

Peter Steinmann has been promoted to vice president and manager at the Wilmington office of Crocker-Citizens National Bank.

Steinmann joined the bank in 1955 and served in various capacities until he was named assistant manager of the Baldwin Hills office in 1959.

He became manager of the Wilmington office in 1961 and was named as assistant vice president of the bank three years ago.

Steinmann is a director of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and the Harbor Area Red Cross. He also is a member of the Board of Managers of the Wilmington-Carson-Dominguez YMCA and finance chairman and a director of the Society for the Preservation of the Drum Barracks.

A Torrance resident, Steinmann is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles. He served three years with the Army in the South Pacific during World War II.

Italian Orchestra Sets Concert Here

The 17-piece Orchestra Michelangelo di Firenze from Florence, Italy, will open the fourth annual concert series of the South Bay Chamber Music Society Friday, Nov. 25.

The concert is scheduled at 8:15 p.m. at the Redondo Union High School auditorium, according to Mrs. Phillip Karr, president of the society.

The orchestra, an outgrowth of the famed Societa Cameristica Italiana string quartet, currently is making its first tour of the United States. It is comprised of some of the most gifted musicians of central Italy, according to Mrs. Karr.

THE PROGRAM will feature concerti by Aibonini and Vivaldi, sinfonias by Boccherini, J. C. Bach, and Scleri, a canzonni by Frescobaldi, and an all-string selection by Tschalkowsky.

Soloists will be cellist Italo Gomez and violinists Umberto Olivetti, Enzo Porta, and Emilio Poggioni.

THE SOUTH Bay Chamber Music Society, a non-profit organization, was formed four years ago to bring chamber music ensembles to the community. The group also sponsors a free annual concert of Coleman Chamber award winners at El Camino College to encourage young talent.

Smokers Ask For Trouble

By EUGENE TEMKIN, M. D. President, County Heart Association

Almost every week, a patient will ask me, "Doctor, is cigarette smoking bad for me, or is that just a lot of propaganda?"

I believe in being honest and getting straight to the point. I show them statistics, results of years of surveys by recognized research organizations. I try to impress upon them that the death rate from heart attacks is much higher among cigarette smokers than among non-smokers.

Some patients take my advice and stop smoking. Others ignore my warnings and continue to smoke—some as high as three packs a day. Those patients are courting disaster.

IT IS WELL known that cigarette smoking is common among patients with emphysema, a serious lung disease that can damage the heart. Also, chronic bronchitis, another disabling disease, is often caused by smoking. The more cigarettes you smoke daily, the greater your risk of lung disease or heart attacks, particularly when you reach your 30s and 40s.

Many physicians and specialists have viewed shocking films of damaging tars retained in the lungs. If only more patients could see these films! Maybe that is the reason only one in every five doctors now smoke.

What is a heavy smoker? I would describe a heavy smoker as anyone who smokes one or more packs daily. A heavy smoker faces almost twice the risk of heart attack as the modest smoker. However, the only way to avoid the risk is not to smoke at all.

AND LET ME give some friendly advice to teenagers—throw away those cigarettes! The earlier you start and the more you smoke, the greater your risk of trouble ahead. Heart attacks aren't fun. Sometimes they kill.

Remember, the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service and his staff of researchers are fully convinced that cigarette smoking is a serious health hazard. If you're still not convinced, write or telephone your nearest Heart Association office and request the brochure called "Cigarette Quiz."

'Ministry' Topic Set By Speaker

"Fully Accomplish Your Ministry" will be the subject of Paul Peter Coconis when he speaks Saturday morning at the semi-annual Circuit Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, Longshoremen's Memorial Hall, "C" and Fries streets, Wilmington.

"These assemblies are vital to our ministry because we learn of things that are beneficial, not only to ourselves, but also to those with whom we speak," said Coconis.

The speaker, who lives with his wife and three children at 24747 Winlock Drive, has been a resident of Torrance four years.

Associated with Jehovah's Witnesses for 16 years, he was graduated from the Bible school in New York and assigned to the foreign missionary service in El Salvador. He will supervise baptism arrangements at the assembly.

LUNG DISEASE
Emphysema, a disorder which causes the lungs to become greatly enlarged, may enrage the heart under the strain of pumping blood to the lungs and result in heart failure.
